The selections in this book were translated from their original German texts into English by Robert A. Krieg. In the bibliographic information below, the names of two publishers have been abbreviated: “MGV” means Matthias Grünewald Verlag (Publisher), and “WV” refers to Werkbund Verlag (Publisher). Each German text’s date of first publication is given in this book’s five chapters, while the date of a more recent edition of the German text usually appears below. The title and date of Guardini’s books in English are given below after the information about the original German texts. The bibliographic citations in this book’s introduction and chapters refer to the German texts. When a German text has been published in English, its bibliographic citation specifies the chapter as well as the pagination of the German edition; this information is added so that readers can more easily find the text in the English edition of the respective book.
